Notes of production:

Bouman after reading the comic 'Pony Boy' by Felipe Almendros contact the author, to offer you the opportunity to make some animated production on one of their stories. Felipe Almendros happily accepts and makes a short story that was already made but which for various reasons was not published, a unique opportunity that allowed for Limit Bipolar a litmus test for future collaboration between both artists.

After a few paltry tweaks the original story was continued in the production of animation done digitally by Bouman, for 3D scenes with the collaboration of David Mir. A dialog level participated Pabloefe voicing two characters and Miguel Martínez's murderer (in Dubbed of English by Stpehen Routsis and Patxi Gil Crenier), in the composition of the soundtrack was the director for the second consecutive time with the good work of Juli Bonet who created the soundtrack for 'Doomed morning' and for the end credits song gave us the music group, Laherzio.
